“ *Evan,
You were like a 3rd brother to me. I will always remember the nights we wPeking at Taco Bell and blasting Eminem late at night while we're working. Working at Pizza Hut and just being silly, enjoying our job and just having fun with all of our co-workers. You were always a good friend. I remember all the nights at Rocky's place and just hanging out with Kuhn or the Wozniaks LOL. You were always respectful and curious and one of my best friends. I will always think of you as my 3rd brother. I love you buddy...til we meet again.*

“ Evan, you were such a good friend. Treated everyone like they were family and never hesitated to say how you feel. You loved to check in on everyone and did it so genuinely and with such interest. We could never pay you back for this generosity, but you can bet that you're loved and will be missed by many. God bless you, brother. I take comfort in knowing a huge spot was reserved for you upstairs. Thank you for everything buddy.

“ Evan, the youngest of my sister Lois' five children. Evan was always full of laughter and lit up a room with his smile. He always made me smile when he asked me for his candy. From the time he was very young, I usually brought Reese's candy bars when I would visit. The last few times we talked, he joked that I wasn't sending him his candy anymore.

Evan, you will always be in my heart, You were an awesome young man, a great son, a caring grandson, a delightful nephew, a wonderful brother, a loving uncle, a great friend to many.

You will be truly missed. You are greatly loved, Until we meet again, love you!

“ I have thought about trying to sum up the life of the man, the myth, the legend of Evan. Most of the times I had with Evan we're good times, full of laughter and teasing him. Who was Evan? He was a brother, a son, a nephew, a cousin, a friend in other words he was family. He was a kind and considerate man, who knew that he wasn't perfect and that no one can be. We are all flawed, but Evan didn't hold that against anyone. The best thing I can say is that Evan was the angel of our better nature. He always tried to see the world as a better place, one where differences didn't cost you friendships. He loved dogs, good times and good people, knowing Evan made one a better person. In closing all I can say I will miss him and our conversations. You went way too soon Evan, but God indeed has a most kind, gentle and loving Angel.
