“ As a supervisor you try to seperate personal and professional relationships, with Greg they are one in the same. Greg was not only an outstanding employee he was a friend to everyone. He had no enemies and loved life. Out of my 17 yesars at Famous Footwear , I can honestly say that Greg was the best we have had at his job and responsibilities. We never had to ask Greg or tell him what to do. His work ethic was an example that most can not follow. There is a void without Greg that can not be filled. I will dearly miss his smiling face , his upbeat personality and always a gentleman. Not having his smiling face greet all of us as we come in to work each morning is a stark reminder of how short and valuble life can be. Greg you are missed and loved by all. Lynda Osterhoff

“ Family, know that God is your strength, your comfort and your peace during this difficult time. God said you never bear a burden alone as long as you are in Him. Rest in His care as you mourn this tragic loss. Love you all!!

“ Greg,

So much I want to say to you. I miss your smiling face and your kind and gentle spirit. You were always there every morning with a smile on your face. As my daddy would say, you were grinning from ear to ear. I will never forget you asking me. Amanda, How am I doing at my second Job??? The truth is you were amazing at anything you chose to undertake. You worked circles around most of us young folk and NEVER complained about anything. You did your job and still took time out of your day to come by and make sure I had a tape gun if I needed it or to grab the shoes off the top of my truck because I was just a little too short to reach them. I never had to ask you...you were always there anticipating when I was going to need you next! I'll never forget the day I jokingly asked you if you would babysit for me that night. Not only did you say yes but you told me what street you lived on lol! While I was joking about that, I was very serious when I asked ya to be Layla's other grandpa because she only had one. Regretfully, we never made it around to the two of you meeting. What a shame! She would have loved you. I don't know why God chose to take ya home...I'm only assuming he has a much bigger job in mind for you....What a promotion! Soar with the angels, Greg! You are loved and missed immensely.

*Till we meet again

“ Greg, and I was suppose to go to the prom together. Greg stood me up, and I was so disappointed that I missed Senior prom. so days later he comes by. I wouldn't speak to him. as the years went on I forgave Greg, but teased the brakes off of him about it, we had a private joke that went on for years. I would say ok Greg you owe me $185.00's for my dress. Greg would smile and say. Jennett if I owe you, you will never be broke. and we would laugh and I would say, but no Greg i'm so serious and he'd say but Jennett that was years ago. and I would say. I know but you still owe me and everyone would laugh. gonna miss bugging you about that dress. we the Williamson family, want the world to know we loved Greg, through his good and bad faults regardless he was golden as a friend and money can't buy that. to the Beard family we are so sorry for your loss, and we are there for you, and are hearts, prayers, and best wishes go out to you. so sorry for your loss. this is a shock to all of us.
