“ I met Jacinta when she first moved to Atlanta! We worked together at OBGYN Of Atlanta. One of my fondest memories I have of her is when she asked if I wanted to be there for her when she had her ultrasound to check on the baby? Once the ultrasound started, I was overcome with emotion of what God was doing and I was so happy for her and her fiancé, now husband! She will be truly missed. Heaven has surely gained an angel❤️

“ Jacinta, I can not believe I'm sharing my condolences with you. We just had talked on November 7, it still feel unreal. My buddy, my roll dawg, my laughing partner, my nursing/healthcare buddy gone 😭. I am so glad to have shared every great moment with you and I'm so happy I always let you know that I cherish our friendship. Jacinta this one hurts so bad 💔 friend you are in heaven smiling and looking beautiful as usual. You were rare, and I will continue to help your family out. If Kal need me to help I'm there. Fly high my friend.

“ I'm still in disbelief, and heartbroken to hear of your passing. One of my first friends I met when we relocated to Georgia. Our bond was that we were twins, and our daughters were first friends too. I appreciate all the talks, laughs, and hugs we shared through the years. Forever holding on to the memories. Keeping your family in my prayers.

“ I never thought I would be typing this and of all people, to you. You were one hell of a woman and I'm so blessed and thankful the Lord allowed us to cross paths. Your family and friends are in my prayers. I will miss our conversations and how you get on to me for missing your call. Love you lady. Rest easy and see you on the other side. All my love, Kristy
