“ DR. ALEXANDER OLATUNDE BADRU (JD)

Uncle Tunde, you left an indelible mark on my heart and the lives of everyone you touched.

Though you may be gone, your memory, wisdom and unwavering support continue to inspire me.

You lived a life of purpose, passion and generosity. You had a heart of gold, always willing to lend a listening ear, a helping hand or a comforting word. Your infectious laughter, warm smile and kind spirit drew people to you, making you a beloved figure in our family and community.

My uncle was more than just a relative, he was a father, a mentor, a confidant and a friend. He offered guidance, encouragement and support whenever I needed it, helping me navigate life's challenges and celebrate it's triumphs.

Uncle Tunde, you have a way of making everyone feel seen, heard and loved.

Though you are gone, your legacy lives on through the countless lives you have touched.

Your love, kindness and generosity have created a ripple effect, inspiring others to pay it forward.

I feel grateful to have had you in my life.

Though you may be gone, your memory will never fade. Your empathy is worth emulating. I will continue to share stories of your life, your wisdom and your love. I will honour your legacy by living a life of purpose, kindness and compassion. You may be gone but your impact on my life will never be forgotten.

You fought the battle
And God finally took over
He finally called you to His Mansion
Good night! Good night! Goodnight*

Everything is SEASONAL
Before your EXPIRATION DATE
You gave all you had until the last call.
Good night! Good night! Goodnight.*

*Sleep on, beloved, sleep and take thy rest,
Lay down thy head upon thy Saviour's breast;
We love thee much, but Jesus loves thee best:
Good night! Good night! Goodnight*

Clothed in the spotless robe He gives His own;
Until we know Him even as we have known:
Good night! Goodnight! Goodnight!*

“ I still don't believe you're gone. My confidant, my support, my safe place, my sounding board, my uncle, my father. I was never afraid of any challenge that came my way because I knew I only had to talk to God about it and come to you to guide me. You always had my back. I still don't know why you loved or cared so much about me. You stood by me in every way. You kept your word and did what you said you would do. You went above and beyond to make me feel loved. You took over that father's position and made sure I never missed not truly knowing my biological father. You always picked up my calls even when it was not convenient. You were so intentional, so gentle, so loving, so generous. You cared for everyone without expecting anything in return. I can go on and on about how great you were and how much you meant to me. You extended that love to my husband and my children. Your Natalia will miss you, and Jimi asked that I tell u to wake up. Thank you for taking your final trip with me. Thank you for preparing me for this day, even though I was not sensitive enough. Thank you for every lesson you taught me. Thank you for believing in me. Thank you for loving me. Thank you for being you. I love you with every fiber of my being, but I know you are now with your creator, who loves you more than we do.

Rest on, my dear Uncle Tunde. I will miss you, but we'll meet again on the resurrection morning. ❤️

“ A Tribute to a Life of Impact and Love

Today, we mourn the loss of a remarkable soul Dr Olatunde Alexander Badru, but we also celebrate a life that was lived with purpose, compassion, and boundless impact. My cousin and brother Dr Olatunde Alexander Badru, was more than a family member; he was a pillar of strength, a beacon of hope, and a source of inspiration to so many—both those he knew personally and countless others whose lives he touched without ever meeting them.

We give thanks to God for a life graced with His love and spent spreading it abroad. My cousin’s life was a reflection of God’s goodness, a vessel through which love, kindness, and light radiated to everyone around him. He lived not for himself but for others, embodying the true meaning of selflessness. He gave generously of his time, his wisdom, and his heart, always striving to make the world a better place. Whether through a kind word, an act of service, or quiet support, he made a difference that will be felt for generations.

As we remember him, I am reminded that life is not about how long we live but how meaningfully we live to the glory of God. My cousin’s legacy challenges us all to reflect on our own lives. Are we using our time to uplift others and showcase Christ to the dying world? Are we making a difference in our communities? Are we living in a way that reflects kindness, generosity, and integrity?

We pray for long life, but the truth is that tomorrow is not promised. The greatest tribute we can offer to him is to carry forward the values he lived by—to be pillars of support in our own circles and communities, to spread love and kindness wherever we go, and to leave the world better than we found it.

To everyone reading this, I ask: What action can you take today to make a positive impact? What can you do, no matter how small, to align your actions with the truth that only a life of purpose and goodness truly matters?

As we honour his memory, we also lift up his wife and children in prayer. May God grant them comfort and strength in this difficult time. May they find peace in knowing that their husband and father lived a life of great impact and love, and that his legacy will continue to shine through them. We pray for divine provision, wisdom, and guidance as they navigate the road ahead, surrounded by the support and love of family and friends.

Though he is no longer with us, his light continues to shine through the lives he touched and the love he gave so freely. We will miss him dearly, but his legacy will live on in our hearts and our actions.

"I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith. Now there is in store for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will award to me on that day—and not only to me, but also to all who have longed for his appearing."

2 Timothy 4:7-8

As we remember him and give thanks, I would like to share the music of Bebe and Cece Winans, as it carries the spirit of gratitude and reflection I feel for his life.

Rest in peace, my beloved cousin and brother, Dr Olatunde Alexander Badru, Omo Sunba Ala, Omo Ala agbele gboye. You were deeply loved, and you will be forever missed. May your soul find eternal rest.

“ Uncle Tunde . My Uncle . You were truly a staple to this family . You took all of your nieces and nephews in as your own. I remember when you first were married and I was the only one from Femi Badru family to come to London. I used to cry all morning until you came and you comforted me and made sure you knew I was okay. So many summers and events I remember you would always send for me , deke and titi to come to Tennessee. You would take us to your clinics, shopping, to the hospitals . It didn't matter, you took us everywhere with you. You would just let us run free, give us anything we wanted but also showed us so much love and care . I remember one year you came to Atlanta and the whole family went to IHop just because you wanted everyone together . That's the type of person you were . You always put family first I can't believe im writing for you . Tears come to my eyes because as an adult I wish I continued to come to Tennessee more to share those special moments. If I could just get one last time with you . The last time we were together was Christmas and you were just so happy. I watch video all day from Christmas and just get joy out of seeing your handsome smile . You are a father to all of us and forever will be in our hearts . You have raised two beautiful smart and amazing young girls. I pray that you watch over us and GOD grants us that comfort we need to get pass this. I pray God wraps my cousin Alex and Zion in his bosom and comforts them . Your will Forever truly be missed . I love you . - Tosin Badru

“ I am so heartbroken to hear about the passing of Uncle Tunde. As a college student living in Nashville, TN, I was introduced to Uncle Tunde through his niece Kristin. We were both college students at Vanderbilt University and Kristin would ever so often go to Lebanon to spend time with her uncle. Eventually, I started joining her on those weekend excursions and got to know Uncle Tunde and his family. Uncle Tunde welcomed me and even when I graduated played a parental role while my parents were still in New York. He went with me to buy my first car at Cookeville Honda, consulted me about graduate school, and even gave me dating advice.

Uncle Tunde was generous to all and wanted the best for everyone. When Grandma was alive, he made sure that she had the best care. He supported his nieces, nephews, and empowered his team at the Zion Clinic. Being an immigrant is not easy, but he rose to the height of his career and never stopped learning. When I was applying for business school, I was having trouble with the entrance exam, and then he informed me he was studying for his MBA too while juggling family, a thriving medical practice, and so much more. I will continue to be inspired by his tenacity.

“ Tribute from the Badiru Descendants

There are those who live loudly, eager to tell the world of their accomplishments. And then there are those who walk quietly through life, leaving a profound and lasting impact without fanfare—letting their actions speak to the beauty of their soul. Dr. Olatunde Alexander Badru was such a man.

He never sought the spotlight or demanded recognition. Instead, he showed his love and character through his unwavering generosity and quiet strength. When someone was in need, Tunde was the first to step up—no questions, no hesitation.

Stranded due to a canceled flight and needed a place to stay?

Tunde would say, “Tell me when you’ll arrive, and I’ll have a buffet ready.”

Struggling to find your way in life and needed a guiding hand? Tunde would say, “Come work with me while you figure it out.”

Confronted with the issue of undereducation in Nigeria? Tunde’s response was, “We’ll build them a school.”

Hosting over 50 family members for the Badiru family reunion? Tunde’s answer was always, “All are welcome.”

He never turned his back on family or anyone in need, asking for nothing in return. His heart was as vast as his actions, his care as genuine as his words.

Tunde’s loss is one that is felt deeply and profoundly at the very core of our family. His love, support, and quiet heroism were a binding force, and the void left behind cannot be measured. Yet, even in our heartbreak, we take comfort in knowing that he left this world far better than he found it. His legacy is one of love, service, and selflessness.

Instead of saying goodbye, which feels too final, we will simply say, “Until we meet again.” It is well with you, our beloved husband, father, brother, uncle, and friend. Rest peacefully, knowing that your light will forever shine in the lives you touched and the hearts you left behind.

“ A Tribute to Dr. Tunde Badru: A Loving Brother, Remarkable Physician, and Compassionate Soul

With heartfelt remembrance, we honor the life and legacy of our beloved brother, Dr. Tunde Badru. A remarkable man in every sense, Tunde's profound impact on the world will be felt for generations to come. He was not only an exceptional physician and devoted Christian but also a philanthropist whose compassion and care touched countless lives.

Above all, Tunde was our brother—a loving and unifying force within our family. From our early days at 26 & 28 Owoseni Street, through our cherished times at the C&S Church Movement, St. Mary, and later 61 Agbado Road, to his incredible journey in the United States of America, Tunde was a steadfast thread weaving love, unity, and togetherness into our family fabric. He ensured that our bonds remained strong and that we carried forward the love and fellowship that our mother so deeply believed in.

From a young age, Tunde, also called “Latunde,” showed extraordinary promise, determination, and focus. Despite numerous challenges, he pursued his purpose with an unwavering “I can do all things” spirit. His relentless drive and faith helped him overcome obstacles to become an accomplished practicing physician. His brilliance in academics and devotion to his work were matched only by his humility and genuine love for others.

To us, his siblings, Tunde was not just an accomplished individual but a humble, loving brother. He inspired us all with his kindness, wisdom, and encouragement. He celebrated our successes as though they were his own, and he extended that same pride and love to our children, creating a legacy of unwavering support and care.

Tunde's warm smile and gentle spirit could light up any room. He had an innate ability to connect with people, offering friendship, guidance, and encouragement to everyone he met. His kindness and integrity made him a beloved figure in the hearts of many. Whether through his professional work as a physician or his philanthropic endeavors, Tunde touched countless lives, leaving an indelible mark on the world.

As we remember our dear brother, we celebrate a life defined by love, service, and faith. Though his physical presence is no longer with us, his spirit lives on in the countless lives he touched and in the legacy he left behind. Let us honor his memory by continuing the work he held dear—caring for one another, uplifting our communities, and striving to make the world a better place.

People may remember him for many things: as a skilled physician, a compassionate philanthropist, and a devoted Christian. But to us, he was our brother, a man who has left an immeasurable void in our family.

The last born of Mama St. Mary, “Latunde,” sunre o. We, your brothers and sisters—Blo, Sisi Mi, Anti Iyabo, Anti Dola, Anti Esther, Anti Mosun, Boda Wale, and Baba Steve—say this with love and hope:

Till we meet again on the resurrection morning.

“ I met Uncle Tunde 34 years ago when I moved from Nigeria to the United States. At that time, I was living with his sister, Mama Seun. He was kind and generous, often taking me around Rhode Island. Whenever I called for help with taking the kids to school, he never hesitated to assist. He was a caring person and someone you could easily talk to. I am truly shocked to hear about his passing. May God comfort the Badru family and his immediate family in Jesus' name. Rest in peace, Uncle Tunde.

Despite numerous challenges, he pursued his purpose with an unwavering “I can do all things” spirit. His relentless drive and faith helped him overcome obstacles to become an accomplished practicing physician. His brilliance in academics and devotion to his work were matched only by his humility and genuine love for others.

To us, his siblings, Tunde was not just an accomplished individual but a humble, loving brother. He inspired us all with his kindness, wisdom, and encouragement. He celebrated our successes as though they were his own, and he extended that same pride and love to our children, creating a legacy of unwavering support and care.

Tunde's warm smile and gentle spirit could light up any room. He had an innate ability to connect with people, offering friendship, guidance, and encouragement to everyone he met. His kindness and integrity made him a beloved figure in the hearts of many. Whether through his professional work as a physician or his philanthropic endeavors, Tunde touched countless lives, leaving an indelible mark on the world.

As we remember our dear brother, we celebrate a life defined by love, service, and faith. Though his physical presence is no longer with us, his spirit lives on in the countless lives he touched and in the legacy he left behind. Let us honor his memory by continuing the work he held dear—caring for one another, uplifting our communities, and striving to make the world a better place.

People may remember him for many things: as a skilled physician, a compassionate philanthropist, and a devoted Christian. But to us, he was our brother, a man who has left an immeasurable void in our family.

The last born of Mama St. Mary, “Latunde,” sunre o. We, your brothers and sisters—Blo, Sisi Mi, Anti Iyabo, Anti Dola, Anti Esther, Anti Mosun, Boda Wale, and Baba Steve—say this with love and hope:

Till we meet again on the resurrection morning.

“ Tribute to Dr. Tunde Badru

As head of the extended Badiru family outside Nigeria, it is the saddest of sad challenges for me to write a tribute on our dearly-departed family member, Dr. Olatunde Alexander Badru, who left us way too soon to be with the Lord.

The assurance and consolation that I have is that Tunde's destination is the eventual destination of all of us and we shall reunite at God's appointed time. Tunde was the very embodiment of all the ideals of the Badiru family and worldwide descendants. He was family-oriented, kind, generous, engaged, empathetic, sympathetic to the cause of the underserved, progressively-minded, selfless, comforting, adventurous, socially responsible, and a shining light for the present and future generations of Badiru descendants.

As this family has endured challenges for generations, the sweet memory of the life and widespread accomplishments of Dr. Tunde Badru will carry us through this period of sadness, agony, and grief of the highest order. O dabo o, Tunde.

“ Despite our understanding of the inevitability of death, it is still difficult to accept the transition, especially when the soul in question is our symbol of love, brother, cousin, father, mentor, uncle: Dr. Tunde Badru, our homely, friendly, understanding, healing, open-hearted, realistic, problem solver, approachable, brave with the truth and humorous soul.

You left this earth to reside in our hearts, in the hearts of all we that knew you. You made all we who understood your wars marvel at how you sacrificed and became an elixir to other people's pains, could have been bitter, but chose to be sweet, lived fighting in a tireless labor, yet, still loved deeply.

Our anger may be with certain diseases and the unfairness of life, but your extraordinary life reminds us that such struggles are fleeting and powerless against the essence of a soul. These challenges could neither diminish your spirit nor confine your love. They were merely temporary shadows against an eternal light. And have no power beyond the time and name that we give them. They are too little to hold a soul from living and loving in their own terms and evolving, and the soul escapes, never to be captured again.

Regrets are only reserved for those who never met you except in stories and every story of you would be told in glee and ecstasy. That's the kind of piece you were amidst the many debris we call humanity.

We love you, and we know that none of us can escape the final rest. But until then, we carry you with us—in memory, in love, and in every story we tell.

“ It's so hard to say good night.

I wasn't so close to you until 2018 because I was a very reserved person before then.

You came into my life at my lowest time. You took me up and stood strongly behind me, even up till your last few weeks.

You taught me true humility, true philanthropy, true humanity, how to accommodate and relate with people, hard work, integrity of heart, and so on.

I will miss pulling your leg, I will miss our special worship session, I will miss you saying Aburo e,omo e, wa la e po o, I will miss your pretending not to hear me when I call you.

Your legacy lives on my uncle, father, and personal paddy.

Your death has left a void that is hard to fill, but I take comfort in the memories of our time together and the impact you had on my life and that of my family.

You were more than just a brother; you were my friend, my confidant, and advisor. Your unwavering support, encouragement, and love helped shape me into the person I am today. A man with a heart of gold, very humble and so generous to a fault.

I remember the countless times you were there for me and my family, offering a listening ear and a helping hand. Your selflessness and willingness to put others before yourself were traits that I admired and aspired to emulate.

Your love for my family was evident in everything you did.

As I say goodbye, I take comfort in the knowledge that you are now at peace and resting in the bosom of the Lord.

Rest in peace, Boda Mi Tunde. You will always be in my heart, and your memory will continue to inspire me and my family to live a life that honours your legacy.

“ A heartfelt Tribute to an icon, a brother than answered the call to Glory in person of Dr. Alexander Olatunde Badru:

Dr. Olatunde, the beloved son of Badru, was one of those rare souls sent to earth with a divine mission. From a young age, Tunde recognized his purpose and, with unwavering dedication and hard work, he fulfilled it with grace.

Blessed with both intellectual brilliance and spiritual insight, Tunde was not just a scholar but also a prophet at heart. His passion for knowledge was unmatched, and through relentless perseverance, he achieved excellence in both medicine and law—a feat few can claim.

Beyond his academic and professional achievements, it was Tunde's heart that truly set him apart. He carried within him an extraordinary capacity for kindness, always extending his love and care to everyone who crossed his path. His presence was like a warm embrace, offering comfort and hope.

Calm, humble, and wise, Tunde approached life with a rare maturity. He never raised his voice in anger nor engaged in unnecessary disputes. Instead, he diffused tension with gentle words and an understanding smile. His demeanour was a lesson in patience and grace.

A gifted prophet and soulful musician, Tunde used his voice and his mastery of musical instruments to glorify God and uplift spirits. Whenever he entered a room, his presence brought light, and his laughter was a melody that lingered long after he left.

Generous and selfless, Tunde opened his arms and his home to both friends and strangers alike. His acts of philanthropy were not grand gestures for recognition but quiet, heartfelt actions that changed lives.

Tunde, you were a true blessing to humanity. You have left behind not just memories but a legacy—one etched in kindness, wisdom, and love.

I will not remember you with tears of sorrow but with gratitude for the joy, the laughter, and the countless beautiful moments we shared.

You came. You saw. You gave your all. And now, you rest—your crown of glory well-earned.

Goodnight, my dear brother. Rest peacefully in the arms of eternity. I will surely see you again. You cannot be forgotten.
