“ When I was a kid here in Little Rock Ar. My mother had us to watch the Olivia Newton John concert. This was in 1983 or 84. Olivia already had a serious catalog of music but as a kid I noticed the music had been like amplified, especially in the bass area. I noticed there was a black man in the band on a guitar that had something to do with that, especially when Olivia performed the song "Physical". 3 to 4 years later because of this show I got a bass guitar, I believe for Christmas, and I played along with Pops while watching that show for years. I would like to say thanks to Tom Scott band, Olivia N. John and the super soul brother Robert Pops for that performance. That was a serious inspiration. This man definitely has a soul. Well, RIP to Robert Pops Popwell and Olivia Newton John. 🙏 God got him some good ones. 8/24/22 From: Ninzey Stokes Peace Maybe we'll play together one day in the hereafter my brother.

“ I met this man at the Nashville international airport when it first opened back in the late 80s. I was a drummer in Nashville trying to dig my bones and worked at the airport. I noticed this guy cleaning the ticket counters, he had a big pair of headphones on with a sony walkman. I went up to this guy and asked what he was listening to, he replied gospel music, I then aske him if he was a musician DUH, he replied he was a Bass player, I replied cool, who do you Play for, he replied "it doesn't matter who he played for I play for the lord now and mentioned he played for Bobby Jones. I felt LIke i was bothering him so I said cool man, My name is John nice to meet you, he replied Im Bob Popwell. It took me a while to put it together until I watched the olivia hbo concert again, One of my favorites. rest in Peace POPS..

“ I use to talk with pop at Jack la lanes in the late 1970's. This is where I met him. He was living in Porter ranch at that time. He had this candy green Lincoln Town car. He was a down to earth man. R.I.P. Pop Popwell. I'll see you again.

“ My favorite vision of Robert is when we were in elementary school and he would play his drum & sing on the sidewalk in front of his house. Comfort and lasting memories for the family.

“ Popwell, was a happy soul. He always laughed a lot. Even when he didn't feel good. He made me laugh when I didn't feel good. I'm going to miss my old buddy. But, GOD will place us together again on down the road.

Pop and I were friends for over 60 years. He was a warm, caring and exceptional human being. Notwithstanding his acclaim he never forgot who he was and from whence he came. I will miss his infectious laughter. God bless Glenda and the rest of the Popwell family.

I was lucky to chat with Pops a number of times, sharing his knowledge and experience as an outstanding bass player. The difference that made Pops even more great was he was equally a humble caring man. You will be very much missed Pops. My sincere condolences to Glenda and family RIP Sir
